

SPORT NOTES

CONNIE MACK IS OUTSTANDING MANAGER

Had it not been for that great seventh-inning rally in the fourth game of the World Series by Philadelphia, pitching would be about the only record-breaking factor in the October classic recently closed. But in that one great inning, the Athletics managed to put hitting forcibly into the records of the series, although as a whole, no one will gain any pitching instead of hitting, strikeouts instead of home runs, and brilliant relief box work instead of pinch hitting are the chief discussions of the moment.

There is no doubt either but that the greatest individual performance in the series was the pitching of Howard J. Ehmke in the opening game, when he struck out 13 batters to set up a new record for strikeouts in one game of a series. In that same game, Catcher Cochrane set a new record behind the bat for putouts in one game—14, and the most chances accepted in a game—15. J. Ira Thomas, former Athletic, in the series of 1914, held the previous record of 12 putouts in a game and with two others was tied for the most chances accepted at 11. Another fact that Cochrane shared was the most chances accepted in one series—that of 61, bettering the old record of 56 made by Harold Bland of the Washington Senators in 1924.

The great exception where the offensive took the lead over the defensive side, and where almost all records on offense were made, was the result of a rally such as has never before occurred in a World Series. The Yankees broke the old mark of the New York Giants when they made eight in the seventh inning of a game in the 1921 series against the Yankees, and Philadelphia's 10 hits that inning also bettered the eight hit mark of the Giants in their spectacular victory of 1921. In the same inning of the 1922 classic fourth game, Dykes, Simmons, Fox and Fox hit eight times, the 1922 player in a World Series to do it before being Ross Young of the Giants in that 1921 inning. The two clubs between them made 14 runs in the fourth game, tying the record of the Giants and Yankees in 1921, when the Giants came out on top in one of the games, 14 to 5. The Athletics defeated the Cubs, 10 to 8.

Several players had been at bat twice in an inning but none more than that, as Dykes, Simmons, Fox, Miller, Riley and pinch hitter Burns equalled that mark in the seventh inning of the fourth game. Simmons and Fox scored two runs in that inning, tying the record made by Frisch in 1921. Simmons latted in the seventh inning of the game, held by several players. The Cubs as a team had the highest batting average of a club during a World Series. The two home runs made by Simmons and Lase in the fourth game in the seventh inning tied the record held by several other clubs. The 11 runs that the Athletics in that inning also bettered a record. And the Athletics batting twice in one inning was a new mark. Also George H. Burns was the first pinch hitter in World Series to go to bat twice in one inning, his only appearance in the series.

Mack is Class by Himself
The general record of the series that the most fans are talking about is Connie Mack's entrance into a select class of managers never entered by another—that of winning four world championships. He had with him the series, however, had with him the managing in his fourteenth classic—William J. Klein—another general manager.

Although Neph got into the series for only a brief stay in one inning, when there was long enough to get base on balls, bringing his total for the series to 32, a new high record for a single pitcher. Wilson's batting average was the highest of the 1922 classic at .471.

While the greatest emphasis was placed on right-hand pitching, the effectiveness of the two left-handers, Walter J. Walberg, relief pitcher, was marked. Each pitched 6 1-3 innings and each allowed only one run.

Churchill to Have Huge Elevator
WINNIEPEG, Man.—Fort Churchill, the terminus of the Hudson Bay Railway, is to have a grain elevator of 2,000,000 bushel capacity. The elevator, it is expected, will be available for the full business of 1931, work to be started next year.

Unexpectedly good progress is being made on the completion of the railway line and the development of work proceeding on the Churchill harbor. It has not been considered wise to start passenger service on the line this fall. Formal opening will take place next spring.

The Hudson Bay Railway, running from Winnipeg by way of The Pas, Man., to Hudson Bay, is expected to greatly stimulate development of Western Canada, as it opens up rich agricultural and mineral areas in the north. The most immediate advantage, it is expected, will be a certain amount in freight rates on wheat and other grain moving to the European markets from the west. These will now more largely via the shorter Bay route instead of by way of the eastern ports.

COMIC OPERA ARGUMENTS

(By R. J. Deasman)
From a typical undisciplined sport delivered a short time ago, the following is selected:

"Turn now to our exports—what are they?"

Agricultural and vegetable products.....$46,000,000

Animal products.....158,000,000

Forest products.....228,000,000

Mineral products.....22,000,000

INTER-SCHOOL GAMES

—B—

Strathmore school teams won both basketball and basketball games yesterday on Wednesday, October 29.

The week previous, Strathmore played in Strathmore and the girls basketball team won the first game of their series but the boys lost by a score of 14 to 2.

However everyone was greatly interested when the Strathmore boys turned the tables on Guelph by defeating them 10 to 6. The game was a good one from start to finish. The Strathmore battery, Albert Grellin and Leroy Christiansen provided a sparkling display while they were ably supported by the other members of the team.

The girls basketball game was also full of thrills with the local team winning by a score of 12 to 6. The team lined up as follows: Strathmore—Phyllis Bower, Fay Harwood, Devilla McManus, Irene Giroux, Germaine Giroux, Louise Bower, Gladys Pearson, Guelph—Margaret McLean, Florence Holland, Margaret Desgautier, Lillian Hutchinson, Edith Hutchinson, Agnes Tharburn, Louise Morrow.

The players and school staff are greatly indebted to Messrs John Taylor, M. Grellin, H. McGregor and E. Banaat for the transportation provided.

The ball teams were composed of Strathmore—Albert Grellin, Leslie Christiansen, Ernest Wright, Herbert Bellinger, Roy Christiansen, Vincent Moran, Norman Ellis, Leonard Licht, Albert Gray, Guelph—Jerry Yates, D. Mattson, P. Yates, J. Cook, H. Bore, S. P. Dewary, J. Mattson, A. Clifford, J. Lookal.

Walters struck out eight and Grove 10, and Grove gave only one base on balls to none for Walters.

Neither allowed one earned run in the game.

The only triples of the series were made by Hornsby and Wilson, the heavy hitters of the Cubs, while M. Millan, Chicago third baseman, was the only player to receive credit for a stolen base.

There is probably no doubt but that all the fans are settled on the fact that the pitching was superb in the 1929 games, but if there is one opinion that isn't, he may turn to the record of the series.

There were only three strikeouts of the series, the 10 seven struck out.

Strikeout Records Set

Fifty strikeouts against the Cubs in a new record for a series, the old mark being 44 against the same in 1921 and against the Yankees in 1922. The 1922 series, eight, bringing out the early the brilliance of the pitching. The record was made by Joseph M. Egan, Chicago pitcher, who struck out 10, Walters 9, Quinn 2. The total number of strikeouts in the series was 75, coming very close to the record of 82 made between the Giants and Yankees in 1921, a series which went eight games. There is by no means any other pitcher in the series.

Records made by the batters, although rarely made, the record of 10 set up by George L. Kelly, formerly with the Chicago White Sox, who was the first to strike out the most in the Athletics, but the only one to strike out more than six.

Despite the fact that he struck out the most in the series, Kelly's four was the best showing for any Chicago player, and he was the only one to strike out the most in the Philadelphia team, made the most runs for his club.

Total.....$1,214,000,000

"Think of it—our total exports in 1929 amounted to $1,214,000,000 and of this vast sum $1,214,000,000 is the product of the farms, forests and mines—wealth which goes out of the country to build up other countries."

And so far into the night—"as the comic strip puts it."

The joke, of course, is that practically all products of every country come under these four classifications. The only exception would be chemical and miscellaneous products.

The four we ship is a finished manufactured product. Yet it is viewed as an agricultural and vegetable product because it is of agricultural and vegetable origin.

Cheese is an animal product—also is canned salmon. Both, however, are manufactured products. That is, they are produced in a different character from their original form.

Automobiles are classified as mineral origin. So also are agricultural implements. So our export of these two products and of most other manufactured products might be put into one or other of these classifications.

Precisely the same thing is true of our imports. The great bulk of our importations are agricultural or animal products, or the product of forests and mines.

The attempt to impress upon the people of Canada that our exports are raw material and all our imports finished products is simply an attempt to bolster up a weak case by statements which are false.

FARMERS ADVISED TO SECURE SEED OATS EARLY

—E—

One of the most serious effects of the past dry season will be a shortage of good seed oats for next year's crop in some sections of the province. Farmers in these areas are being advised to secure their seed early, as the price is now in securing the seed supply they will require for spring.There will be little difficulty in supplying this demand from other parts of the province where a heavier yield of the coarse grains was harvested, but it will be necessary to know the requirements of the other districts at an early date. Already a considerable demand is reported from outside the province, and buyers are looking order for a large quantity of seed oats to be shipped out of Alberta before next spring.In order that Alberta farmers may be assured of their seed supply, grain of a good quality is available.
They are advised to communicate at once with their local elevator agents so that arrangements can be made for any necessary shipments before seed time.
